Government Crop Report States That Corn Has Progressed Favorably.

WINTER WHEAT HARVEST ENDED

Thrashing Generally Delayed in the Central Valleys -- Rain Caused Delay in Oats Harvest.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Washington, July 31.-The special weekly crop report Issued to-day by the Department of Agriculture, is as follows: The drought prevailing at the close of the previous week in the Atlantic Coast districts has been wholly relieved by local rains, except in Southern Florida, and the week as a whole, in the districts east of the Rocky Mountains, has been one of highly favorable abundant moisure. On the Pacific Coast the Reports from the States of the Central valleys indicate that it has made rapid growth, and that the earlyplanted corn in the Carolinas and Virginia has been permanently injured by drought, but late corn in these States is promising. Winter wheat harvest is practically completed except where delayed by rains in some districts over the northern portion of the winter wheat region. Thrashing has been quite generally delayed in the central valleys as a result of rains and injury to wheat in shock is quite extensively re-ported. Harvesting continues on the Pacific coast.

Spring wheat harvest is now general in the northern portion of the Red River Valley and is progressing favorably in the southern portion of the spring wheat region. The dry, warm weather has rapidly matured the crop in North Dakota, where, owing to short straw, much had to be mowed. In Southern Minnesota a large part of the crop is in shock and in the northern portion of the State the wheat heads are reported as well filled. In South Dakota fair to good yields are indicated in the extreme southeastern counties, the crop being poor to fair elsewhere, but generally of good quality. Rains have caused some further delay in oats harvest, which, however, is nearly finished in the more northerly sections. Some damage to oats in shock is reported from West Virginia, Indiana and Ilinois. Over the western and eastern portions of the cotton region there has been a material improvement in the condition of cotton, but in the central districts it has suffered further from continued rains. In Texas the crop has been generally laid by in good condition, and is promising in many localities, while complaints of too rank growth light bolls, weevil and boll worms are reported.

Some early tobacco has suffered permanent injury from drought in Virginia and North Carolina, but elsewhere reports indicate that the crop is in promising condition, having been greatly benefited by rains finished in the more northerly sections dicate that the crop is in promising condition, having been greatly benefited by rains during the last week.

The outlook for apples in New York and Pennsylvania continues promising, and improved prospects are reported from portions of Illinois, Missouri and Iowa, while dropping is still quite extensively reported from a number of important apple States.

Missouri section, for the week ending July 30, 1890, issued to-day, says:
"The mean temperature of the last week was slightly below the normal in all sections of the State, but while the nights were cool, the days have been warm with a good percentage of sunshine. Over most of the central and northern and a few of the southwestern counties the rainfall of the week ranged from one to two inches and in some localities exceeded three inches, but in a number of the west central and northeastern counties more rain is needed. northeastern countles more rain is needed. Over most of the southern countles the rainfall was light.

over most of the southern counties the rainfall was light.

"Special reports regarding corn indicate that in a few of the central and northern counties the crop was shortened from one-tenth to one-third by the recent drought, and in portions of Pettis, Buchanan, Caldwell, Livingston, Carroll and Lewis counties it is reported damaged one-naif, eisewhere the damage was very slight, and except in a few of the southeastern counties, where it has been injured by excessive rains, the crop is in an unusually promising condition. In a few counties, however, it is much in need of rain. Some camage has been done by local wind and hall storms, but damage of this character is confined to small areas. Considerable early corn is now practically made.

but damage of this character is confined to small areas. Considerable early corn is now practically made.

"Cotton in the southeastern counties continues to do well generally, though there is danger that some may make too rank a growth. Heavy rains in portions of the State during the fore part of the week interfered considerably with threshing and caused some further damage to grain in shock. Haying has also been retarded in some counties, and some hay damaged.

"Corespondents continue to report good yielding well, as a rule. Where good rains have fallen in the northern and western counties pastures are improving rapily, but in some northern counties they are still quite short. A good second crop of clover is promised in most sections, and some is about ready to cut. Plowing for wheat is progressing in all sections, but in a few counties the ground is reported too dry. In portions of the northern and western sections apples have improved somewhat since the recent rains, but both apples and peaches continue dropping in most sections. There is also much complaint that apples are wormy and of inferior quality. In a few counties a good crop of apples is promised. Peaches promise, on the whole, much better than apples, but they are mostly seedlings. Grapes have rotted badly."

With Throughout the State.

Springfield, Ill., July 31 .- The weekly climate and crop bulletin of the Weather mate and crop builetin of the Weather Bureau, Illinois section, United States Department of Agriculture, was issued today, as follows:

"Rainy weather early in the week throughout most of the State interfered with harvesting and threshing and delayed farm work generally. Better conditions prevalled during the latter part of the week. The weather has been excellent for growing crops, though it has been rather cool during the latter part of the week.

"Some wheat has been threshed, showing but little change and yield previously reported. Rain, however, has continued to damage some of that in shock. Oats harvest is nearly finished in the central and southern districts, but less advanced in the northern district. Some threshing has been done and the average yield is large. Continued damage to oats in shock has been done by rain early in the week.

"Corn is generally expected to be a very large crop, many correspondents saying it will be the largest produced in years. Most of it is in silk and tassel, and in many places the ears have begun to hang down. In many localities in the Southern district, however, that on low lands has not recovered from the effect of the very wet weather earlier in the season, and will be a poor crop.

"Haying is about finished. Unfavorable conditions for harvesting this crop cause some loss, but most of it was harvested in good condition. Pastures and newly sown clover are in fine condition. TENNESSEE WHEAT CROP. Expected That Yield Will Exceed That of Last Year.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Nashville, Tenn., July 31,-When the statistics for the 1900 wheat crop in Tennessee are compiled there is every indication that the people will be surprised. For a time it ooked as if the yield would be very short. looked as if the yield would be very short. In fact, it was given out from the office of the State Commissioner of Agriculture, Thomas H. Paine, that the crop would be cut in half, but the present reports do not verify this statement. Early in June the Hessian fly appeared in the wheat fields of East and Middle Tennessee, and for several weeks played havoc with the crop, and the farmers were forced to plow their fields and replant. The Hessian fly had just left the field when the heavy rains set in and continued for almost a month. Early in July the bulk of the wheat was harvested, but in many localities sprouted in the shock. Conditions were such in West Tennessee.

in many localities sprouted in the shock. Conditions were such in West Tennessee, however, to produce the largest yield known in years, and, taking the State as a whole, the crop will be a third heavier than last year.

The chances are that Obion County, in West Tennessee, will lead in the production of wheat this year, instead of Williamson as heretofore. The crop in Obion was the largest ever harvested. F. M. McCree made forty-three and one-half bushels per acre off of ten acres, while another piece of ground embracing 100 acres averaged thirty bushels. The entire county will average at bushels. The entire county will average at least twenty-five bushels, and it is said that the entire yield for this county alone will aggregate 2,000,000 bushels.

in its report issued to-day for the week ending July 50 reports crop conditions in ending July 30 reports crop conditions in Texas as follows:
Cotton continues to shed in some localities. The showery weather has caused the plant to take on a very rapid growth and consequently is not trulling well in many localities, while other sections report that cotton is doing excellently well and fruiting nicely. The crop is generally in good condition, except some fields are grassy. However, much of the crop has been worked out for the last time. The boll worm and Mexican weevil are reported from many piaces, some such reports coming from the extreme northern portion of the State, where they are doing some dam-

ing Well. REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Topeka, Kas., July 31.-The official weekly weather bureau to-day issued this crop bulletin: "In Eastern Kansas corn is in good condition in Earber, Cowley, Sumner, Sedg-wick and Stafford, and has greatly improved in Cloud, Harper, Phillips and Republic, and on the bottoms in Dickinson and Saline. It is doing fairly well in Butler, is hurt in places in Osborne and Rice, is poor in Reno and is burnt in Barton and Sumner. Apples and is burnt in Barton and Sumner. Apples are abundant in Cowley, with a moderate supply in Reno, while in Rice the apple crop is a failure. The third crop of alfalfa is not doing well. Grass is good in Cloud and Dickinson, but is suffering in Rice. Haying is progressing in many countles, with good crops in Cowley and Sedgwick.

"In the middle division: Corn has been greatly improved by the rains, and in most of the countles is in fine condition. In the southern countles some of the early corn is now matured enough for feed. Apples are doing fairly well, in some of the countles quite well. Grass has improved decidedly and pastures are very good. Haying is quite well. Grass has improved decidedly and pastures are very good. Haying is progressing in several counties, the crop being good in Chautauqua and Frankin.

Flax is yielding well in Coffee and Frankin. The third crop of alfalfa is in good condition in Chase, growing rapidly in Marshall, and ready to cut, though short, in Anderson. Grases are maturing in Chase. Anderson. Grapes are maturing in Chase, Plowing for fall seeding continues being nearly finished in some of the counties."

ARKANSAS CROPS. Conditions Generally Improved— Early Corn About Made. REPUBLIC SPECIAL Little Rock, Ark., July 31.-United States Department of Agriculture, climate and

kansas section, for the week ending July 30. reports:
The temperature was below the normal. The temperature was below the normal. Rainfall occurred in most sections of the State and in some localities it was excessive. The crops have generally improved. Early corn is growing nicely and generally promises a good yield. Cotton on the higher ground is doing very well and in most cases promises a good yield, while in the lowland it is very grassy and many fields have been abandoned. Wheat and oats are generally thrashed out and the yields fair to good. The second crop of potatoes have nearly all been planted and are in good condition generally. Peaches are abundant, but the quality not so good. Apples continue to rot and fall from the trees.
